Burckhardt Compression Awarded Service Contract from One of the Leading Global Industrial Gas Producers

One of the four major global industrial gas producers selected Burckhardt Compression for a field service & valves maintenance framework supply agreement. The agreement builds upon a long-term business relationship between the two companies.

One of the four industrial gas production leaders worldwide and Burckhardt Compression signed a field service & valves maintenance framework supply agreement for the European territory. Under the agreement, Burckhardt Compression will provide on-site field service and valve service on all types of reciprocating compressors for more than 40 industrial gas plants in Europe. The agreement is valid for three years.

This agreement builds upon the excellent cooperation between the two companies. The industrial gas production company is a longstanding global partner of Burckhardt Compression in the areas of new compressor systems and compressor components and services. Further, the agreement draws upon the strong service network of Burckhardt Compression, its enhanced service capabilities and comprehensive know-how as an OEM.

As a leading reciprocating compressor manufacturer with over 160 years of experience Burckhardt Compression supports its customers with a full range of components and services throughout the entire life cycle of all reciprocating compressors by ensuring utmost reliability and maximum cost benefit.
